

THE ARCH

A Framework for Leadership and life

Your life is an arch. Build it strong for yourself and for those you lead.

YOUR KEYSTONE

It is something bigger and stronger than you.

It provides strength, hope, and peace.

It is capable of locking all of your other stones into place.

It is capable of redistributing the load throughout your arch.

It places limitations on your life so you live within healthy boundaries.

If removed, the rest of your life's arch would come crashing down.

Your keystone can never be you - you aren't strong enough!

Your keystone cannot be another person - they aren't strong enough!
